SUMMARY OF THE THESIS

Education is most important factor for re-structuring economy and society for sustainable development. Education is the action or process of learning various stages that culminates in knowledge and development. The secondary education is the school education in the school education has more significant role to play as it is the most important stage of education system of any country, especially the developing country liked India. The secondary education exposes the student different streams like science, social sciences and humanities. It prepares the youngster for the employment and also prepare them for higher studies. The education opportunity and the secondary level is a major instrument of social change. The present study has examined and accessed the secondary education provided in the schools of the select district SAS Nagar. The research methodology used for the study includes both secondary and primary data and some relevant statistical techniques have been used to reach the findings and conclusion. The primary data has been collected by using devised prevalent research tools (3 interview schedules) These have been spread over seven chapters.

1. Introduction, Scope and Research Methodology
2. Policy and Programmes and Administration of Secondary Education in Punjab and The select District
3. Working and Service Conditions of the School Teachers: An Assessment
4. School’s Infrastructural Facilities and Student-Teachers Inter-Personal Relations: Students View Point
5. Working Provisions and Working of the School Management Committees In The District of SAS Nagar: An Assessment of the Member
6. Intensive Study of Select Schools of District SAS Nagar
7. Conclusions and Suggestions

The study has examined the administration of secondary education by assessing the teacher satisfaction with working and service condition. Similarly student satisfaction with infrastructural facilities and interpersonal relations with their teachers. The school management committee’s working provision and working has also been accessed. The findings has been summarized in the concluding chapter.